Subject: SIRTURO™ Distribution in the United States

In collaboration with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), Janssen Therapeutics has taken steps to encourage the appropriate use of SIRTURO™ (bedaquiline), which is now available. This includes:

- Coordination with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to develop a distribution plan that allows for the management of multi-drug resistant tuberculosis (MDR-TB) with SIRTURO™ in consultation with disease-state experts.
- SIRTURO™ will be made available in the US through an exclusive specialty distributor and specialty pharmacy. Janssen has contracted with Metro Medical Supply, Inc., Nashville, TN a specialty distributor and MMS Solutions Specialty Pharmacy to provide this service.
- Janssen will ship a quantity of educational materials with each bottle of SIRTURO™ to help educate providers and patients about the potential risks associated with use of the drug. The materials will include patient information on how to take SIRTURO™, a Medication Guide, a Healthcare Professional product information booklet, and the SIRTURO™ package insert (USPI).

Janssen, in consultation with the CDC, has established a list of entities likely to have a need for SIRTURO™. Through Janssen’s designated specialty distributor/pharmacy, these entities can obtain SIRTURO™ by ordering the drug directly or by providing an individual patient prescription. In all cases, the drug will be shipped only to a provider or site such as a Department of Health.

Metro Medical Supply will begin to contact approved entities to establish accounts to facilitate ordering of SIRTURO™.
